

BKLYN

From the Desk of King Henry, M.D.

In a recent study by The American Institute of Stress, four-out-of-five workers stated that they feel overworked and stressed by their jobs. In addition 26% said that they are "often or very often" burnt out or stressed by their workload. In a separate survey - conducted by Sandy the Seagull and his feathered friend Pee Wee - 100% of those questioned said they would rather be at MCU Park watching the Brooklyn Cyclones and enjoying some Baseball on the Boardwalk, that stuck at their desks.

The Cyclones are encouraging fans to take a three-day weekend this week and take a "staycation" on Monday for Brooklyn's 11:30 AM game against the Aberdeen IronBirds.

MONDAY, JULY 13TH - 11:30 AM

Fans can enjoy some fun in the sun, air conditioning courtesy of the ocean breeze, and a hot dog fresh from the grill (Be honest, hot dogs always taste better at the ballpark...especially when that ballpark is on Coney Island). Doesn't that sound better than being stuck on a crowded Subway car or sitting in traffic on the BQE?

Yeah, we thought so too.

I've taken the liberty of providing my own Doctor's Note to take care of those Monday Morning "Sniffles." See you at the ballpark!
